West University Place Fire Department to Host Hurricane Preparedness Workshop

WEST UNIVERSITY PLACE, TX - The West University Place Fire Department is pleased to announce it will host a Hurricane Preparedness Workshop that will be held on Wednesday, May 31st from 6-7 p.m. at the Community Building, 6104 Auden St. This workshop is open to all residents and aims to share good ideas and practices to help prepare for the upcoming hurricane season.

The workshop will cover a wide range of topics including how to prepare an emergency kit and your home for a disaster. Attendees will have the opportunity to learn about city services and what to expect during the different phases of the response process, from preparedness to operational periods, and recovery.

One of the key focuses of the workshop will be the City's emergency notification system, West U READY, which provides alerts in the event of an emergency that poses an immediate risk to health, life, and property. In addition, there will be information on Direct Link, the exclusive alarm monitoring service for residents, as well as CPR classes for those interested in learning life-saving skills.

"We are excited to host this important workshop and provide valuable information to residents on how to be prepared for the upcoming hurricane season," said Jennifer Maxwell, Chief of the West University Place Fire Department.

The Hurricane Preparedness Workshop promises to be an informative and interactive event, with opportunities for questions and discussions.
